

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

The jig-saw puzzle of putting together the State of Michigan budget for the coming year is just about completed.

Legislative leaders plan to recess the special session soon to a date after June 30, 1950, when the balance sheet for the present fiscal year will be available.

Governor Williams recommended to the legislature that government spending be increased approximately $110 million for the coming fiscal year.

The role of the state as a tax collector for local governments was augmented by the constitutional sales tax diversion amendment.

The difficulty confronting the legislature in trimming state expenditures from an over-all total, as recommended by Governor Williams, of $343 millions to approximately $260 millions has been recognized.

Governor Williams has indicated that he disapproves deficit financing, especially during good times.

The annual session of the legislature would convene the second Wednesday in January annually, and sessions in even-number years would be required to adjourn on or before the second Friday in April.

If the 1950 legislative session had been an annual session, as contrasted to the present special session, legislators would have been free to introduce and consider bills of any type.

The State Administrative Board has approved a plan for a $4 million state office building near the Capitol.

Michigan farmers are approximately 16 days behind in their spring planting schedule.

The newest effort to reorganize Michigan government—state and local—is being made by a legislative committee headed by Senator James T. Milliken, Traverse City.

Over 100 Attend Bowling Banquet

Well over 100 Grayling bowling League members, team sponsors and guests attended the annual banquet held at Spike's last Thursday evening.

Following a sumptuous chicken and ham banquet complete with all the trimmings and served by the Lone Pine Inn, the program was opened by Don Bishop, League President, who introduced Howard McCullough of the Brunswick-Balke-Candler Company, makers of bowling alleys and equipment.

Mr. McCullough served as toastmaster and turned in a terrifically fine job.

Everyone in attendance seemed to agree that the program was one of the best, if not the best, that has ever been heard at a Grayling Bowling League banquet.

Hanson's Chevrolet, captained by Roy Milnes were presented with a trophy as League Champions of the year after capturing the last half championship and defeating the first half champs, Hoerl's Tavern, in a roll off.

Over 100 bowlers took part in the season at one time or another with a special mention going to the Auburn Hotel team of Fred, Eric, who with only a five man team, never had one member of their team either absent or late during the entire 30 week season.

Putting a finishing touch to the banquet, Buzz Fazio and the Grayling League's President Bishop rolled two games while those in attendance observed.

Heavy Wind Causes Damage

A severe windstorm, which struck Grayling and vicinity Friday evening and continued through Saturday caused quite some damage in this area.

Many, many trees in the city and throughout the area were broken off and toppled. Roofs were badly damaged also with Grayling Mercy Hospital and Wertz's Lone Pine Inn receiving severe roof damage.

A garage owned by Harvey Rowland west of Grayling and a barn owned by Charles Corwin south of Grayling were completely demolished by the strong wind.

Rural electric lines were knocked out by the wind and telephone service in Grayling was affected for a short time Saturday morning.

140 Attend Mother-Daughter Banquet

Approximately one hundred and forty mothers and daughters attended the Mother and Daughter banquet held Friday night at the Michelson Memorial Church sponsored by the Junior Aid.

A delicious dinner was served in the dining room which was decorated in yellow and white. The tables were decorated with white tapers and bowls of yellow and white spring flowers.

Message To Our Citizens

On Monday, May 15, the U. S. Savings Bond Independence Drive opens throughout the nation, continuing through the Fourth of July.

The year-around Savings Bonds program, of which this annual campaign is an important part, fosters the spirit of self-reliance and the urge for self betterment that, along with individual enterprise, inventiveness, productivity and thrift have carried us steadily forward since the first settlers braved the wilderness to build a free America.

Through regular savings we build up reserves against misfortune and provide income for our later years thus lessening the burden on others. We accumulate funds for worthwhile purchases and investments.

As your mayor, I urge all who are able to help the volunteer Savings Bonds Committee of this city reach every possible Bond buyer during the campaign. The more we exceed our Independence Drive quota and the more we spread the habit of regular saving, through the Payroll Savings Plan or purchase of Bonds at banks and post offices, the more we shall have done for ourselves, our community and our nation.

In honor of the Liberty Bell, hallowed symbol of the American principles by which we live and grow and prosper, I call upon our citizens to signal the opening of this Independence Drive by the ringing of bells throughout the city at noon and the displaying of our nation's flag on Monday, May 15.

A. L. Roberts, Mayor

Monday Is Bell-Day

Detroit—Monday, May 15, will be B-Day (Bell Day) throughout Michigan and the nation.

For Monday is the day when Liberty—personal financial independence—will begin tolling again everywhere in the United States and territories to emphasize to citizens everywhere the slogan of the 1950 U. S. Savings Bond Independence Drive — "Save for Your Independence: Buy U. S. Savings Bonds."

Not only will the original hallowed symbol of freedom, the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia, ring again Monday, according to Frank N. Isbey, U. S. Savings Bonds chairman for Michigan, but also the 49 exact replicas, which will visit all corners of the nation, and practically every other bell will set up a veritable nation-wide cacophony to inaugurate the 51-day drive.

The thousands of U. S. Savings Bonds volunteers are really going all-out during this campaign, Isbey reported, to bring home to each and every citizen the importance of making the Liberty Bell his personal symbol of financial independence by buying more U. S. Savings Bonds.

Besides the original and 49 replicas, one of which will tour to every corner of Michigan between Monday and July 4, church bells, and more bells, bells of ever description will ring out Monday to start the campaign, according to Delmar V. Cote, State director of the Treasury Department's Savings Bond Division.

"Labor, including AFL, CIO and independent unions, industry and business, schools, churches, civic organization, everybody, are joining in to 'sell' that emblem of Liberty," Mr. Cote declared.

The drive to reach every corner of the land will be carried on radio and television, both of which have scheduled gala programs Monday, as well as the newspapers. Michigan's program will kick off with a big Detroit ceremony featuring the Bell, after which Old Liberty will start its state-wide travel, which will include its ringing in more than 100 communities.

City, County To Join Safety Drive

The local police and Sheriff's Department today announced that the city and county has joined with the State Safety Commission in conducting an all-out drive against unsafe vehicles during the month of May.

The motoring public is being thoroughly informed of the dangers of unsafe brakes and other equipment through an intensive public educational program in newspapers, over the radio, in motion picture theatres and by safety posters, leaflets and stickers.

Last years increase of 9% in the number of vehicles and 6% in the traffic volume in Michigan make it even more important than ever for every driver to have a safe car which will help him to see better, stop quicker and keep his car under control, according to the police and sheriff's department.

Pointing out that last year, in a similar safety program, the law enforcement agencies of Michigan checked the brakes on over 100,000 cars and found a high percentage in unsafe condition.

"All motorists are urgently requested to co-operate on this important safety program by having their cars checked at their regular service station. Our departments will check the brakes of all cars stopped for traffic violations."

National Hospital Day

Friday, May 12th is National Hospital Day. Just what does that mean? Our mayor in last weeks issue of this paper explained the history and meaning of the word.

Now as the day nears it is time for us to stop and ponder and observe. Truly we should be glad to set aside one day for thought and reflection and extension of gratitude to these worthy institutions.

We in Grayling should give thanks to God that we have such a fine little hospital at our door.

Probably no greater tribute could be paid the Mercy Hospital at Grayling than one which appeared in the Toledo Blade some years ago. The item was published after the return from Grayling of two great Toledo physicians.

"Instead of the wilds of the north, we found the Mercy Hospital at Grayling complete in every detail, and offering everything in modern medical development that a person could get in the finest hospital in the country."

"Those who have visited the Mercy hospital at Grayling, and know the splendid accomplishments of this little institution of big successes find more than an ordinary amount of comfort in the knowledge that they can find adequate hospital accommodations, splendid service, courteous attention, friendliness and a personal interest from physicians, nurses and the entire hospital personnel."

H. Trudgeon, Mercy Hospital Aid Society.

This Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Won A Case Against A&P

As almost everyone now knows, the anti-trust lawyers in Washington have brought a civil suit to destroy A&P.

They ask the courts to order the dissolution of this company.

They say that this suit is based on the fact that they won a suit against us at Danville, Illinois, in 1946.

They did. In that case, Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley made a decision against A&P.

Immediately thereafter, in a letter explaining his decision, Judge Lindley wrote:

"I have not condemned the A&P system.

I have not made a finding which could be the basis for a suit of dissolution."

So, now we have the anti-trust lawyers saying that their suit to dissolve A&P is based on Judge Lindley's decision; while Judge Lindley himself says his decision could not be the basis for a suit of dissolution.

In previous ads we told you about the cases against A&P which the anti-trust lawyers lost. We promised to tell you about this case they won. Here is the story of the Danville case.

What Judge Lindley Objected To

At Danville, the anti-trust lawyers made all of the charges which they are again making against A&P today. They were substantially the same charges they had made and dropped at Dallas, Texas, after four federal judges had objected to some of them as "inflammatory."

In his decision, Judge Lindley was critical of some of our activities. He threw some of the charges out of court. He did not make any decision on others.

He even took occasion to praise A&P for the efficient job of food distribution it had done.

Judge Lindley said:

"To buy, sell and distribute to a substantial portion of 130,000,000 people, one and three-quarter billion dollars worth of food annually at a profit of 1½ cents on each dollar, is an achievement one may well be proud of.

"No place in the world I take it are people so well fed as in the United States. Nowhere else, I suppose, do food distributors accomplish efficient distribution at so low a margin of profit. In contrast, we are told in other nations the problem is not one of an adequate diet but one of no diet at all."

But Judge Lindley did find us in violation of the Sherman Act. He based his ruling on the dual role played by our fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, the Atlantic Commission Company, whereby that organization acted both as buying agent for A&P and as selling agent for growers.

Judge Lindley said:

"If I assume for the purpose of disposition of this case that in general the policy of A&P was to operate within the law and attribute to defendants a desire to comply with the law, there still remains the conscious, knowing adoption by all defendants of a plan of action by the Atlantic Commission Company affecting every department of A&P and every retail store which cannot be squared with the intent and purpose of the act."

In his letter explaining the decision, Judge Lindley wrote: "I have condemned their practices through the Atlantic Commission Company."

Judge Lindley imposed fines totaling $175,000. When his decision was upheld by the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, we paid the fines. This ended the case—but we did not stop there.

What We Did To Correct This

In the light of the decision, we immediately set about reviewing our activities to be sure that there could never again be any criticism of our operations.

First, the Atlantic Commission Company abandoned the dual role to which Judge Lindley objected and which he said was the basis of his decision against us.

We did this even though the Atlantic Commission Company had been licensed for many years by the United States Department of Agriculture to act as both a buyer and seller of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The Atlantic Commission Company now only buys for A&P. In other words, we stopped doing the thing which Judge Lindley said put us in violation of the Sherman Act.

We made additional changes in other methods of operation which Judge Lindley had questioned at Danville, even though he did not base his decision on them.

We did even more than this!

We went down to Washington and asked the anti-trust lawyers what else they thought we should do to conform to their new interpretation of the vague anti-trust laws.

The only answer we ever got was that we should break up this company!

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to A&P's size, they insisted that we destroy this size.

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to our manufacturing operations, they insisted that we get rid of our factories which produce many of the fine foods you buy at A&P.

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to our low prices, they insisted that we destroy many of the efficiencies that make these low prices possible.

In other words, they insisted upon the dissolution of A&P.

We were still trying to find out from the anti-trust lawyers what else they thought we should do to conform to the law when they filed the current suit to destroy A&P.

Why, Then, Do They Want To Put A&P Out Of Business?

Ever since this suit was filed, the anti-trust lawyers have been making damaging statements that could seriously hurt our business if they were believed by the public.

They say that we were found guilty at Danville of all the charges they are making today.

This is not true. Judge Lindley did not sustain all of the charges of the anti-trust lawyers.

They say this suit is designed to enforce the law.

But A&P has clearly demonstrated its sincere desire to abide by the spirit, as well as the letter of the law.

What, then, is the real reason why the anti-trust lawyers want to destroy this company, which for 90 years has pioneered the methods of distribution which have given the American people more good food for their money?

They say they are seeking to "enjoin" A&P from engaging in certain "alleged" practices.

Actually, the whole purpose of this suit is not to "enjoin" us, but to put us out of business.

They say that this suit for dissolution is based on the decision handed down by Judge Lindley in Danville.

But Judge Lindley has said of his decision: "I have not made a finding which could be the basis for a suit of dissolution."

Hard To Believe-But True

A short time ago the Saturday Evening Post printed an article called "The Federal Snoops Are After Me," written by Robinson McIlvaine, publisher of the Downington, Pennsylvania, Archive. Mr. McIlvaine and his wife had bought this little weekly paper on the proverbial shoestring, and were getting along nicely until a representative of the Wage and Hour Division of the Federal government appeared with a long bill of particulars of unfair practices which the publisher had unwittingly committed. Mr. McIlvaine has since followed up the Post with a further recital of events which he printed in his paper. It all amounts to an interesting, first-hand account of how the Federal laws whose intent is perfectly good can be carried to extremes of interpretation which make them almost incredibly onerous to business—and especially small business.

Newspapers of less than 4,000 circulation are exempt from the Wages and Hours Act, and Mr. McIlvaine assumed that his Archive, with a circulation of 1,600, naturally fell into this category. However, it seemed that the printing end of the paper had been set up as a separate corporation, and this legal quirk brought it within the scope of the law. Mr. McIlvaine didn't think he was engaged in interstate commerce either. But he was wrong again—simply because he printed letter-heads for firms which mail letters out of the state!

That was only the beginning of the troubles. It had been a common practice for years for groups of people, young and old, to drop in at the plant each Wednesday evening and fold the papers for mailing next day. They earned a little money and they had a lot of fun. But, according to the Wages and Hours agent, each one would henceforth have to have a time card, a social security card, and all kinds of record would have to be kept. Result: Mr. McIlvaine, who was already heavily in debt, borrowed more money on his remaining assets and bought a press which mechanically folds the papers.

Some time later the Wage and Hours people moved again. Mr. McIlvaine was ordered to pay $744.25 in back wages, which he didn't have. Of this, $156 was to go to the foreman. The foreman, incidentally, had been paid a straight $80 a week, with paid vacation, and had been away two more weeks because of sickness. So he had already received $320 for time he had been absent. But he got the additional $156.

Most amazing of all, $582 of the back wages, according to the Wage and Hours division had to be paid to himself! Apparently he'd been taking out less than the proper salary and that just wasn't legal.

Mr. McIlvaine cites more instances of this sort, and observes that the Archives' dossier at the Wage and Hours office "is now about 15 inches thick and it would be hard to estimate how many of our tax dollars were spent on this investigation." In all probability, thousands of little businesses have found themselves involved in similar predicaments. The big business, with its legal and accounting departments, can take the huge mass of laws and ruling and bureaucratic practices pretty much in stride. The small operation, on the other hand, takes the beating.

Mud Lake Gets "Cleared Up"

County officers got a notice from the government not long ago, asking them to change the name of Mud Lake. Seems it's a pond, not a lake, by government standards.

Because it lies entirely inside our town limits, we asked to do the name-changing ourselves. Figured we'd think up a brand-new name. Mud Lake's really not very muddy—sort of pretty, in fact.

County people said go ahead, so we held a Town Meeting. Everyone suggested something. Windy Taylor thought "Taylor Pond" would be nice, because his place borders it—for about 30 feet! But we finally decided to call it "Turtle Pond" in honor of the real owners. From where I sit, naming that pond wasn't the most important thing in the world—but the way we did it was. Everyone offered his opinion and then the majority vote decided it. That's the way it should be—whether it concerns naming a pond, or having the right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer or ale—if and when we choose.

MICHIGAN NAVY BEAN ON PARADE

NATIONAL BEAN WEEK

MAY 10

Michigan has started a campaign for wider appreciation of the good old-fashioned Navy Bean. Above Governor Williams wraps the first package of Michigan Navy Beans to go to the governors of all other states, to various federal officials beginning with President Truman, and national celebrities. The Governor asked these leaders to "join in recognizing of the Navy Bean as a nutritious food" and added that he was sending each a package so that they "might again enjoy the mouth-watering goodness of delicious Navy Bean Soup or Baked Navy Beans."

Bean industry leaders and growers asked Governor Williams' help in disposing of Michigan's 1949 production of 540,000,000 pounds, which was 92 per cent of the national production of Navy Beans. Grocers, hotels and restaurants have agreed to join the campaign to use up the vast crop; and housewives are asked to see that their families get more Navy Beans—a leading source of protein, B Vitamins, iron and calcium.

Wyllo Kirk, Chairman, Commission of Agriculture; Arthur Shoultis, President, Bean Producers' Association; George Shenn, President, Bean Council; C. L. Brody, Secretary-Manager, Michigan State Farm Bureau; G. W. Armstrong, Master, State Grange; Lawrence O'Neill, Michigan Department of Agriculture; Forrest Smith, State Food Council.

U.-M. Is Pioneering, Launches Natural Resources School

Ann Arbor—The University of Michigan, which offered the first regular course in forestry in the United States, is pioneering in the field of natural resources.

A School of Natural Resources, the first in the world, will be established this fall to replace and expand the activities of the School of Forestry and Conservation.

Dean Samuel T. Dana said the establishment of the new school is a logical further step for the University to take at this time. Teaching and research will be widened in the School of Natural Resources to consider everything which nature has placed on, under and over the earth in their relation to man.

"Professional training will continue to be given in forestry, wood technology, wildlife management and fishery management," Dean Dana said in describing the courses to be offered by the new school. "In addition, nonprofessional courses and programs dealing with these and other resources, such as soils, minerals and water, will be offered along with land use planning and general conservation."

These programs will cover matters of basic, general interest relating to the distribution, characteristics, utilization and conservation of natural resources and their place in the national economy. Agricultural and mineral resources will be considered in these programs, but Dean Dana emphasized that no professional training in agriculture or mining engineering will be offered. The Charles Lathrop Pack Forestry Foundation headed by Randolph G. Pack, of New York City, is helping in the support of the new school through two grants. The foundation has made a grant of $10,000 a year for ten years to provide for an additional faculty member and $10,000 a year for three years to support research on the problems arising in the field of natural resources.

Dean Dana cited the University's past history in the field of forestry and conservation and said this has set the background for the pioneering move into natural resources.

"In 1881, the University offered the first regular courses in forestry to be given in the United States," he said. "In 1903, the University of Michigan established one of the first separate departments of forestry. Then in 1927 this was expanded into the first School of Forestry and Conservation."

ways. The excitement of the hunchback boy's confession that it was he himself who killed Bonnie was still in their veins as they strode through thickets, forded creeks and crossed open plains.
They made good time, anxious to make the fifteen odd miles before darkness came, and face Willie Jenks with what they knew of his guilt, their indignation high because of the tragedy they left behind them.

It was too late to save Lenn Breen, there wasn't enough logs left from the fire to do him any good, and the Struthers Outfit had won as far as he was concerning, but Clay had an uneasy feeling this was going to lead to something much bigger than just a fight between two logging companies. He was thinking of the boy with Louise Struthers' husky voice, and Dan Story's blue eyes and freckles across a stubby nose.
He thought too, of that other little boy living in a mansion down below, and being raised as the Struthers Heir and realized that his suspicions were beginning to take

DENOUNCES CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S RETURN TO PRESIDENCY ...
General Li Tsung-Jen (center), acting president of Nationalist China since Chiang's resignation 13 months ago, denounced the return of Chiang to the presidency as an unconstitutional outrage and said it was the high-handed autocratic action of a dictator. General Li talks to a reporter (left) and to Dr. Kan Chieh-Hoo, at General Li's press confer-ence in New York.

on form and shape.
"I'd been leery for a long time about the disappearance of Louise and Dan, Clay said when telling about it afterwards," an' the fast rise of the Jenkses in the Struthers Outfit right after that begun to make sense. "What a way to steal a fortune! I told myself, an' I had to answer that it could be done. Just do away with all the beirs an' plant one of your own tribe in there an' wait for 'im to inherit. Then show 'im who he was an' make 'im sign on the dotted line. Well, to me it was just like a survey job. If a mistake was found it had to be straightened out, an' the sooner the better.

We come to the river an' found the logs all ridin' free behind the fly, an' the wanigan in the mouth of the little creek. The sun was goin' down behind the tall pine timber behind us, an' the men had camp all set up an' I just about got the shock o-my life.
"Round the chuckbox in front
o-the tent set the two men from the settlement, Willie Jenks, an'

the old one legged trapper. The boy I figured was little Danny Story, an' the squaw that claimed to be his mother was waitin' on 'em. It would of been a pretty peaceful sight if you didn't know the circumstances. One of the settlers got up an' come to meet us. "They're gonna take Willie's part," he said to me in a whisper,
"they're old friends o-his'n."
